

"Everyone Knows I'm in Over My Head"...planning three and a half months in advance, for a concert that is. If you haven't caught the reference yet, The Fray, will be at St. Louis' very own Verizon Wireless Ampitheater in Maryland Heights this summer, bringing all of their hit songs and some other numbers from their top selling albums. I'm not sure about knowing "how to save a life" but I can at least give you a heads up - radio presale tickets go on sale March 20th. general public sales start March 21 at 10:30 a.m. and lawn seats (best seats in the house for dates and groups of friends anyway!) are running at $14.00. Tickets are sure to go fast, so grab yours!
